ABOUT ARTPACE

Artpace is a non-profit contemporary art organization located in downtown San Antonio, Texas with residencies, exhibitions, and educational and community programs that nurture creativity and expression. Artpace supports the creative process and engages audiences with the most innovative art and artists from around the world.

Since 1995, Artpace has welcomed more than 220 artists through its renowned International Artist-in-Residence program. In addition, Artpace collaborates with schools, community partners, and other non-profit organizations to provide educational outreach based on its residencies and exhibitions in the form of site visits, building tours, and creative, project-based learning activities. Ultimately, Artpace acts as a dynamic conduit, connecting the international arts community with the people of San Antonio.

Artpace Chalk It Up is an annual celebration of the immensely positive impact the arts make in education and young audiences' ability to think creatively, problem solve, and develop key cognitive skills. This year Chalk It Up will take place on Saturday, October 14th, from 10.00 am – 4.00 pm. Throughout the day Artpace will promote the value of art education and the wealth of San Antonio's creative resources through free activities led by professional art educators and interactions with contemporary artists.

With sponsorships last year, we were able to deepen our support of the Artpace Teen Council, a year-long, paid arts leadership program for San Antonio high school students. Support for Chalk It Up is critical for our ability to extend our resources to the community through the Artpace Teen Council and other educational programming.
